HOAGLAND'S
NEW PATENT SHAFT COUPLING!
W. E. COOPER
HAS PURCHASED THE RIGHT FOR THIS County of the above Patent, and will hereafter use it in the construction of all the Vehicles manufactured at his extensive
Carriage Factory,
Corner of Second and Morrison Streets.
He respectfully refers to the following
CARD.

Having examined the New Patent Shaft Coupling, invented by H. E. Hoagland, we feel pleasure in informing the public that in our opinion it is the safest and best method of connecting shafts or tongues to all vehicles that has ever been used

It fastens without bolt or screw and is therefore, easily and speedily separated. It rests on Gutta Percha so as to be entirely free from the rattling sound which so often disturbs restless horses. It is easily changed so that the shafts or tongue may be detached in an instant, and is convenient, safe and secure.

It is easy to change to this style of coupling any buggy or other vehicle now in use and with small expense. We have come to the conclusion to use this new invention ourselves and recommend its use in all cases. We consider it far superior to the Brewster Patent heretofore considered the best in use

C. Levy Brown Secretary of the American Embassy is on his way to Washington from Pekin via California carrying attested copies of the treaty and other documents

WASHINGTON Dec 11. The Committee on Reconstruction had a meeting to-day on the subject of the admission of Virginia. There seems to be no doubt that a bill for its admission will be passed next week or soon thereafter. The Senators and Representatives will be sworn in with the exception of Booker and McKenzie whose seats are contested. It is probable that the admission of Virginia having been complied with the Constitution will not be amended by the present Legislature. Gentlemen who have seen ex Governor Wells' statement say he recommended the passage of an amnesty bill

Eighty physicians and chemists held a meeting in Medical Society Hall for the purpose of reviewing the case of Dr Paul Schoeppe. The meeting adopted a resolution in effect that the public statement of the trial of Schoeppe does not contain any evidence of a scientific character which goes to prove that Mrs. Steinnck died from effects of prussic acid or evidence of any other poison. The aggregate of the evidence points to a natural death. A committee of five was appointed to prepare a memorial requesting executive clemency in this case

A circular is issued from the Indian Office forbidding visits of delegations of Indians at Washington for the purpose of transacting business of their respective tribes before the Department. It is the opinion of the Commissioner that their business can be much better accomplished by their agents, and money which would be expended in bringing them here could be used to much better advantage in buying them provisions, agricultural implements and annuity goods

WASHINGTON, Dec 11—In the House, Ingersol again introduced a bill authorizing an additional issue of legal tenders, and moved its reference to the committee of Ways and Means. Garfield moved its reference to the Banking committee. Cox desired the subject postponed. Garfield said the question of reference had better be settled now. Ingersoll moved the previous question. On his motion of reference there was no second. Schofield moved to table the bill. Rejected 62 to 48. The question recurred on Garfield's motion to refer to the committee on Banking. Ingersol reminded him that four of the six members of that committee just voted to lay the bill on the table. The bill was so referred 88 to 57

The Reconstruction committee reported several papers in reference to the admission of Virginia

Cox introduced a resolution requesting the committee on Ways and Means to report the bill repealing the so-called manufacturers tax on provisions

Among the bills introduced were the following: To dispense with spies and informers in the Internal Revenue service, and amendatory of the naturalization laws by Schofield for the transfer of the Philadelphia Navy Yard to League Island by Rodgers, to remove political disabilities from the people of the States lately in rebellion by Jencks, to establish a uniform rule of naturalization by Coburn, to provide for the sale of coin in the Treasury except what is required for the payment of the interest on bonds

Smith of Tennessee asked leave to offer a resolution to annul the late Tennessee election. Wood objected

The House went into Committee of the Whole on the census bill. The subject of allowing the census officers the franking privilege and the question of compensation were discussed at considerable length. An amendment refusing them the franking privilege was withdrawn on condition that it might be offered in the House. Mercer introduced a resolution, which was adopted instructing the Committee on retrenchment to enquire into the propriety of reducing the expenses of the obsequies of members of Congress. Wood offered a resolution instructing the Committee on Foreign Affairs to enquire into the conditions under which the French cable was laid and whether there is any restriction prejudicial to the rights of the Government and people of the United States. Hoag asked leave to introduce a resolution directing the Committee on Foreign Affairs to enquire into the expediency of recognizing the independence of Cuba but objection was made

Ingersoll again introduced a bill authorizing the additional issue of $11,000,000 legal tender notes, and moved to have it referred to the Committee on Ways and Means. Garfield moved its reference to the Committee on Banking. Ingersoll rose to debate the question of reference. Garfield who held the floor called up the census bill and declined to yield to Ingersoll, who withdrew the bill and the House went into Committee of the Whole and resumed the consideration of the census bill. Among other amendments adopted was a clause imposing a fine of $10,100 on any corporation which refuses or neglects to give any information required. Wilkinson who offered the amendment declared his belief that it was an[illegible] Minnesota paid railroads for transportation of produce ten millions yearly more than they ought to pay. When people learned how they were victimized by railroads it would awaken a degree of indignation which would require the Government to restrict the power of these mammoth corporations to plunder the people. Schofield moved to strike out the enacting clause. He opposed a multiplicity of Federal officers as provided in the bill and referred to the act of 1850. After discussion the motion was rejected by a large majority

Rev Henry Ward Beecher reads a somewhat lengthy vindicatory explanation of his participation in the Richardson McFarland marriage and funeral ceremonies. The explanation was drawn out by a member of his congregation at the lecture last evening. He said after statements similar to those in his late card that at the time of the marriage at the Astor House he did not understand that the laws of New York declared null and void a divorce obtained in the State of Indiana. He said if the parties were of legal age for marriage and presented themselves before him and requested [illegible] to perform the ceremony [illegible] that regard [illegible] at the time he was bound to fulfill it. He had [illegible] and [illegible] he states [illegible] had not a shadow of [illegible] for any doubt of the fitness of Mrs McFarland's right to marriage. He was not [illegible] defined law about it in the revised code. After the marriage and before the funeral of Richardson he had asked a responsible party as to the legality of the divorce and it was stated to him that the divorce was perfectly correct. He inquired also of another person whether the divorce had been obtained on proper legal grounds and it was stated in reply that it was granted not only upon legal but also upon moral grounds

It is stated that Jeremiah Smith the Ulster county murderer is confined in penitentiary in one of the Western States. The person giving this information was arrested by officer Burriame of Kingston to whom he told the story. He says he met Smith when the latter stated he intended to commit robbery in order to get incarcerated in an out of the way jail so he could escape the vigilance of his pursuers who wished to arrest him for murder

NEW YORK Dec 11. There was a large meeting of Tennessee bondholders to-day. One gentleman just returned from Tennessee said the State debt is about ninety million dollars of which thirty millions was issued to railroads. Half of these could pay on demand. From Mexico

HAVANA Dec 10 City of Mexico dates of December 1st have been received. Mr Seward and party arrived November 10th. They were received at the railroad station by President Juarez and his Cabinet and a commission of notables. On the 18th Mr Nelson United States Minister gave Mr Seward a banquet, at which Count Sch[illegible] Hessen the German Minister Romero and other Cabinet Ministers and many ladies were present: Leonard de Lajara, President of the Supreme Court, said Seward's name will be imperishably written on history and his life will form an important epoch from his service in behalf of republican institutions on the American continent. On the night of November 27th a grand banquet was given Mr Seward at the Palace at which President Juarez, his Cabinet and other prominent persons were present. Juarez toasted President Grant and paid a high compliment of the American Minister. Mr Nelson responded. Leardo de Tejado spoke at considerable length defining the relations of the Governments of the United States and Mexico. He proceeded to point out the [illegible] lance between the laws and institutions of the two countries and declared that in respect to the common pursuit of liberty they were much alike. Mr Seward followed in a speech disclaiming all personal interest in the concerns of the Mexican Government. They wisely gave their political position to their own countrymen and not foreign adventurers. His sole ambition was to inspire the American people with a thorough understanding of the destinies of this continent. Although originally colonized by European monarchies yet sooner or later it must be made independent of foreign and every form of despotic government. Mr Seward proceeded in an eloquent exposition of American republicanism especially in its application to the American continent, and closed by proposing a toast to President Juarez, whose name he said would be indissolubly connected with the memories of Lincoln, Bolivar and Washington. The opera troupe were present and sang "the Star Spangled Banner." Minister Iglesias interpreted Mr Seward's speech and immense enthusiasm prevailed. A very large crowd was present, all anxious to see Mr Seward. He will probably leave about the 10th of December.

He expressed his satisfaction at being able to open the council on the day appointed, and finding the Bishops had come in such numbers to aid the Holy See by the help of the holy spirit. Schemes of impiety were never so strong as in the present day, for they were well organized and hid themselves behind a pretended appearance of spirituality, but there was nothing to fear since the church was stronger even than ever, but time would remedy the present evils. The Holy Father concluded with an invocation to the holy ghost, the Blessed Virgin and Saints Peter and Paul.

The official Yellow Book just published gives a favorable account of the condition of France. American affairs are treated as follows: The advent of General Grant to the Presidency of the United States has made no change in the good relations existing between the two nations. France has assisted the efforts of the Government to establish peace between Spain and the Pacific Republics but the sympathy shown by the United States and South America with the Cuban rebellion has unfortunately complicated the settlement of the above question. Concluding this subject the book says: The French Government has no reason to violate the laws of neutrality. The only aim of the Government is to develop peacefully its foreign relations and guard the interest of France

The Daily Oregonian.

TUESDAY MORNING, DECEMBER 14, 1869.

The Cuban Situation.

Some large petitions have just been presented to Congress from citizens of Philadelphia and New York, praying for the recognition by our Government of Cuban independence. A bill has even been introduced in Congress looking to this action. Now President Grant undoubtedly stated the Cuban case correctly when he said that the insurgents had no government and no armament sufficient to justify the recognition of their belligerency. It is certain, too, that the Cuban struggle for independence is gaining no ground. The latest authentic news from the insurgent camps, as given in detail by Eastern journals, bears on its face the marks of desperation. When the rifle is abandoned for the torch, when war becomes mere incendiarism, and, more especially, when these last resorts are applied in a territory claimed as the special domain of the insurgent cause, the significance of this mode of warfare cannot be mistaken. It certainly is no sign of strength, but rather one of weakness, for the insurgents to burn the plantations they are now burning. Some of them are owned by men whose sympathy has certainly not been Spanish, and who will hardly appreciate the rigor with which these incendiary operations are carried on, without some further proof of their necessity. Guaimero, which was lately burned by its commander, under strict orders from Quesada, was once the "capital" of the Cespedes Government, and how its destruction can be anything but a sign of weakness, it is difficult to conceive. This we say in no spirit of hostile criticism; but we say it in justification of the conduct of our own Government, which has constantly, though perhaps reluctantly, declined to accept this sort of evidence as proof that such a revolution existed in Cuba as entitled it to belligerent recognition. We grant that the foolish stories of "great Spanish victories" are as [illegible] "[illegible]" of "Cuban [illegible]," but the point is not which party is doing the more damage to the island, but whether that sort of a movement is in progress, and that sort of military power in the field, that can command recognition. That has been the question all along, and the situation of affairs to-day—however it may change hereafter—justifies the course President Grant has hitherto pursued. Any course different from this would be a mistake, and such a mistake as we think will not be very strongly urged in Congress.

Prohibition in Pennsylvania.

The prohibitory movement in Pennsylvania [illegible] which may result in [illegible] of [illegible] than could be effected by stringent prohibitory legislation. The Good Templars are circulating petitions to be sent to the Legislature this winter praying that body to enact a law giving the citizens of each election district the right to decide by ballot whether the sale of intoxicating liquors shall be allowed therein or not. If a majority of the voters decide against the sale of liquors in any district, then no license to sell such liquors is to issue to any tavern, restaurant, or other place therein. The Good Templars are now extended throughout the State, with many lodges and a membership which can exercise a [illegible] power when their efforts are concentrated, as they will be in this matter. The Legislature will be flooded by their petitions, and the passage of the proposed law will be very strongly urged at the coming session. The lecturers who are employed by the organization are engaged in making stirring appeals in favor of the proposed enactment. The only question that will remain is, can a mere majority enforce prohibitory legislation? The general course of experience would seem to be that to enforce it with any degree of thoroughness there must be an overwhelming public sentiment favoring it. The law of Oregon somewhat resembles that which is asked for in Pennsylvania; in fact, in its practical bearings it is the same; yet we have heard of instances in this State where it has been so managed that liquor has been sold in spite of a majority of the voters of a precinct. There can be no doubt, however, that this is a feeling through which the temperance movement can accomplish a great deal.

Canadian Reciprocity.

We have the announcement from Halifax that the President's message has annihilated the last hope of the British American Provinces for a renewal of that one-sided "reciprocity" under which they had so great advantages a few years ago, and that the feeling in favor of annexation to the United States has thereby received great additional strength. The New York Herald, in a recent article showed that the movement for a new reciprocity treaty was the last hope of the colonial party to maintain British ascendancy in the New Dominion; that it is admitted that the old reciprocity treaty for eleven years was the thing which prevented independence or annexation, and that the intense dissatisfaction prevailing among the Canadians arise from the failure so far to secure a renewal of that treaty. This is the true explanation of the subject. If the Canadians can have all the advantages of our citizens in the way of trade without any of our taxes, they will be satisfied for a long time to come, perhaps, to remain under the British government; but let us hold them to the alternative that if they wish the business privileges of our citizens they must come in and share with us some of the costs, and we shall soon bring them to the doctrine of "manifest destiny." In any event, it is not the policy of our Government to uphold the New Dominion by concessions to the Canadians at the expense of our own people, and so there should be no more Canadian reciprocity treaties.

The Oregon City Enterprise thinks the recommendation of President Grant and the bill of Senator Williams to prohibit by severe penalties the importation of coolies, a manifestation of "Republican duplicity." Not at all; Republicans have always been opposed to practices of this kind. The Democratic papers have asserted that the Republicans wanted to "import a hundred million coolie slaves," but that didn't make it so; and now these papers assert that proof to the contrary is proof of "Republican duplicity."

A call for a meeting of the Union Republican State Central Committee is published in another column. We are requested to say that subjects of importance will be brought up before the Committee, and it is therefore necessary that every county be represented, if possible, otherwise than by proxy. Where vacancies in the Committee are known to exist, the County Central Committees have authority to fill the same.

From the agent of the California Bible Society's report for the past year we obtain the following statistics: Sales—Bibles in English, 3,271; Bibles in foreign tongues, 270; Testaments in English, 6,464; Testaments in foreign tongues, 392; total sales, 10,297. Donations—Bibles in English, 802; Testaments, 1,216; Bibles in foreign tongues, 50; Testaments, 52; Total donations, 2,120. Total distribution by sale and donation, 12,417.

A contrivance to prevent cars from "telescoping" when a collision occurs is announced. The Stockton (Cal.) Independent announces one which has every promise of being effective. It consists of a series of platforms and buffers, which are so planned as to receive the force on a horizontal line, which is so perfect as to be spent upon the whole train. Instead of allowing the platforms to smash up and the cars to crush into each other whereby so many lives have been lost in times past, the train is compelled to rebound, sometimes, as experience has demonstrated, to the extent of 50 feet.

The Sacramento Bee, in discussing the currency question as it relates to the Pacific coast, says: "The demand for gold is so great that we cannot keep it. It runs through our fingers faster than we can catch it, and the result is, we have nothing left to do business on; and while we sell for gold, capitalists will not bring their greenbacks here to invest. Those who compete with us in trade, and who live beyond the mountains, hope that we shall cling to our gold currency as the rebels did to the Confederacy—to the last man and the last dollar for they say it is only a question of time, California must succumb at last, and the longer she puts it off the better for them.

MISCELLANEOUS.

By a recently published report it appears that the "Greek Central Cretan Committee" distributed something over sixteen millions of drachmes in money and material.

St. Paul, Minnesota, will soon be abundantly provided with hotels. One to cost $200,000 is just closed in, a second is well under way, and ground has just been broken for a third, to cost $100,000.

One of the most important effects of the opening of the Suez Canal is already being experienced in London by the fall of the rates of freight for vessels sailing to and from India and China via the Cape of Good Hope.

Hops, which, last year, weren't worth picking in Wisconsin, now bring from 23 to 25 cents per pound and are rapidly advancing. Two years ago they were scarce and high, last year the market was glutted, and this year, again, very few were raised. Speculators are buying the crop for export.

Iowa is larger than New York or Pennsylvania—larger than New England, without Maine—and more productive than all of them put together. She has thirty-five million acres of rich, black mould, and to-day a clean furrow can be turned over thirty-millions of these acres. Although less than five millions are under cultivation, they produced last year eighty-five million bushels of grain.

All arrangements have been made for the third annual reunion of the Society of the Army of the Cumberland, to be held in Indianapolis, Indiana, on Wednesday and Thursday, Dec. 15 and 16. General Thomas is expected to preside, and invitations have been extended to President Grant, Gens. Sherman, Sheridan, Rosecrans, Schofield, Hooker, Howard, Meade, Halleck, Buell, McClellan, Blair and Hancock; Admirals Farragut and Porter; Secretary Robeson and Secretary Belknap. Commanders of all the Union armies are invited to come.

The progress of Minnesota in the production of wheat is among the agricultural marvels of the age. It is estimated that the surplus wheat of that State the present year will be fully 15,000,000 bushels, while but a little of the great grain plateau embraced within its limits has yet been brought under cultivation. One farmer the past year harvested 1,000 acres, with an average yield of 40 bushels to the acre. This section, while much of it is too far north for growing corn, will evidently become the Odessa of America in the production of wheat.

PERSONAL.

Judge Alexander W. Baldwin, of Nevada, killed by the recent railroad accident near San Fracisco, had $45,000 insurance on his life. Judge Baldwin was admitted to the Nevada bar, ten years ago, when but 19 years of age, a special act of the Legislature being passed to permit it.

Ben Wade is for the immediate recognition of the Cuban revolutionists, and against specie payments. He thinks there is not currency enough in the country, now, and cites the low price of bread-stuffs as proof. The bluff Ohioan is a handsome man, with a pure and Christian speech, but he hasn't much logic in his brain, and very little clear perception of business matters.

The dispatches give a glorious account of Mr. Seward's reception in Mexico. The Mexican Government in its efforts to entertain him is doing the handsomest thing it has performed for many years. These courtesies and amenities are especially due to Mr. Seward, since it was his skillful diplomacy that cleared the French out of Mexico. He fairly "diplomatized" them out of that country.

As a slight affair of a "personal nature" which occurred yesterday has obtained some public notice, it may be as well for us to state the manner of its occurrence. The editor of the Herald, considering himself dreadfully aggrieved by reason of having been completely wound up and cornered on the supposed internal revenue decision which has been giving the Democratic press of the State so much trouble, could see no course to pursue except to "try the last argument of the chivalry." Accordingly he armed himself with a stout hickory slab, and meeting the editor of the OREGONIAN near the foot of the stairs at the entrance of the newspaper offices, let off the usual expletives and accompanied them with a blow with his cudgel which was partially turned aside and inflicted no injury. The appearance of a derringer with a warning not to repeat the attempt to strike, stopped any further demonstrations, when the City Marshal, who had in the meantime come up, engaged both parties to walk off to the Recorder's Office, where the assailant was fined for disturbing the peace and the assailed was acquitted. And now, as usual, the editor of this paper stands ready to expose all the fallacies of the Democratic press, to vanquish them as heretofore in argument, and to make all needful defence against ruffianly assaults.

The "Red" party in Europe have found an exponent and apologist in a leading European journal which is the organ of semi-conservative opinions. It is explained that the first article in the Red creed is that no form of government can be expedient or righteous which is not republican; the second is that religion is an affair of the individual, and that it should be supported by no tax; the third, and the one that brings it most generally into discredit, is that property is a privilege, many holding that all property should be in common, and others that all land should belong to the State. The community, most of them think, should secure constant redistribution of property at death; it should throw all the State burden it can off labor and on to property, and find work for those who are without it. At times it looks as though these stern politicians were going to have the sway in France, and possibly in Spain; but, in the former country, at all events, there must first be a desperate struggle. The middle classes and the peasants, to say nothing of the army, have a strong dislike to logical revolutionists, and Louis Napoleon is made of different metal to Louis Phillippe.

The Red River Insurrection.

HOW FORT GARRY WAS CAPTURED—SUSPECTED CONNIVANCE OF HUDSON'S BAY COMPANY'S OFFICERS.

[From the St. Paul Press, Nov. 23.]

We have further private advices from Fort Garry, which represents that the capture of that stronghold by the insurgents was accomplished by an adroit piece of strategy. About sixty half-breeds strolled leisurely during the morning into the fort, in such small groups as to attract no attention, and lounged about the premises, armed with their usual Northwest flint locks, till they were all in—the force being so distributed as to be ready to operate in different divisions simultaneously at different points, and then, at a preconcerted signal, while the Company's officials were at dinner, the different divisions advanced—one to the Government House, of which the leader demanded possession in the name of the Provisional Government of Winnepeg, which, as no resistance was possible, was of course quietly yielded; while the other divisions took possession of the Company's magazine and other parts of the fort. The whole affair was quietly conducted, and the Company's officials were left undisturbed in their quarters, and no interference was offered to their domestic or trading operations, except that a guard of insurgents was placed over the premises, and that they have confiscated the arms, ammunition and supplies stored in the Company's warehouses to their own use.

On the other hand it is estimated that all this show of strategy and force is a blind, and that the Company's officials are secretly in sympathy with the insurgents, and ready to aid them without seeming to do so. It is alleged, in explanation of this suspicion, that the resident officers and factors of the Company derive no benfit from the Canadian purchase, the entire proceeds being fobbed by the London directors, and they are, therefore, no well wishers to the success of the bargain.

It is also stated that several of the prominent traders and farmers representing the Scotch and English elements met together with a view to organize a movement in support of Gov. McDougall; but after several consultations it was concluded that in the then condition of affairs such an attempt, to be at all effectual, must inevitably lead to bloodshed, and the project was therefore abandoned.

One of our correspondents traces a tincture of Fenian inspiration in the insurrectionary movement. He says a young Irish priest supplied the brains and much of the stimulus of the revolutionary leadership, and that his is the organizing and directing mind of the whole movement. This is a piquant complication, to be sure, this turning up of the dreaded Fenian in the distant wilds of Winnepeg, to plant a Fenian empire on the west half of the B. N. A. segment of the continent, and attack the British lion in his rear. This Fenian presence explains the boldness, audacity, and other surprising features of the movement, and is full of dread and implacable omen to the aforesaid Lion and his Provincial whelps. The Canadian mind, however, will be quick enough to pursue this hint to its startling logical consequences, and we refrain from dilating on a theme, the mere suggestion of which will fill all Kanuckdom with terror.

They are now turning out 1,600 Pumps per week, which range in price from $3 00 to $400, employing 130 hands in the business. John A. Rumsey has recently patented an improved galvanized non corrosive cast iron Pump, which is safe from rust. An improved Hand Fire Engine of great efficiency, is also on their list. The machinery in Rumsey & Co's Factory is of the most efficient kind, much of it being of their own invention, and is driven by an unfailing water power. They are now building a new factory, 84x42 feet, 4 stories. When this is completed they will increase their working force to 250 hands. The business carried on by this firm was established by Rumsey about 30 years ago."—Iron Age, New York. d14d1t

[illegible] ON THE RAILROAD.—Sixteen miles of the [illegible] side railroad has been completed, with the exception of the bridge at Clackamas, and a short section between the lower end of the town of Oregon City and the [illegible] Co.'s [illegible]. Some of the iron shipped from here [illegible] was landed at Oregon City, passed through [illegible] Co's [illegible] and thence by the Co.'s railway [illegible] that and the Oregon Central run side by side. [illegible] and it has been continued to [illegible] from the same point, the track will be laid [illegible] the work already done. This extra [illegible] in order to have the track upon [illegible] down the trestle timbers from the Canemah [illegible] to the lower end of town. The trestle [illegible] probably, be completed by Wednesday or [illegible]. The laying down of the rails is a comparatively short job, and it is likely the entire sixteen miles [illegible] of this week. The bridge at Clackamas will be completed within the next ten days, and the [illegible] the first twenty mile section of road, within a [illegible].

[illegible] COMING.—We learn, incidentally, that Mr. Carter, Manager of Oro Fino Theater, has [illegible] with a number of theatrical celebrities at San Francisco with a view of affecting engagements with them to appear at Oro Fino, after the return of the present company, from Victoria; and that he has [illegible] from several of them that they will come up. Among the number, we may mention Madam Scheller, a [illegible] has been playing a brilliant and successful engagement at one of the leading theatres of San Francisco [illegible], who will be here, probably early in January; [illegible], an old favorite here and who is doing a [illegible] at Maguire's Opera House; and after her, [illegible], one of the most successful and brilliant [illegible] on the coast. This looks as though Mr. [illegible] that he says when he assures us that he is [illegible] the people of Portland the best theatrical [illegible] they ever had.

[illegible].—Mr. Knott, proprietor of the Portland [illegible], to make some improvements to the [illegible] street.

[illegible] remarkably warm, bright and pleasant [illegible] of the year. Gay dresses were out [illegible] and it was a good day for shop keepers.

[illegible] THE Gussie Telfair.—The Victoria Colonist [illegible] says: The Gussie Telfair, Capt. Rogers, [illegible] o'clock Sunday night, bringing a large [illegible] odd passengers. A very rough time [illegible] coming up. The steamer first encountered a heavy head wind, next ran into a heavy fog. [illegible] short of fuel. Capt. Rogers, with [illegible] Neah Bay, where he succeeded [illegible] cords of wood, which lasted him to Victoria [illegible] he ran "in distress," landed his passengers [illegible] morning—after taking in $5 tons [illegible] landing any Victoria freight—proceeded [illegible] W. T. We should add that, on [illegible] was so low that a few tons of [illegible] out to her before she could reach the [illegible].

[illegible] remains of Fred Muller were interred [illegible] afternoon with rites [illegible] the religious services being conducted [illegible]. An unusually large number of [illegible] of the [illegible] members of Columbian Engine [illegible] others, accompanied the hearse to the [illegible] of had no relatives here, but [illegible] his family at home to know [illegible] he had every attention that could be [illegible] he was followed to his last resting [illegible] a sincere friend and mourner.

The Income Tax.

[From the Albany (N. Y.) Journal.]

The propriety of repealing the Income Tax is being discussed. The discussion may possibly terminate in repeal; but we hope not. For it appears to us altogether the most reasonable, just and equitable tax imposed upon the people. It falls where it is least felt, and where it can be most easily met. It is certainly no great burthen for a man having an income of $2,000 a year to pay a tax of $50, or on an income of $11,000 to contribute $500 to the support of the Government and the payment of the National debt.

Of course, the rich and well to do would be glad to be rid of all taxation upon their incomes. And so would the poor like to drink tea and coffee sweetened with sugar upon which no duties were levied. Those articles might not taste any better by being admitted free; but it might be pleasant to have them stronger or to be able to partake of them in larger quantities. But no one—at least very few who find most fault with the tax on incomes—insist upon free tea, coffee and sugar. The fifty millions which the duty upon those articles brings into the treasury are required to "grease the wheels" of Government. And the poorest man amongst us is willing to contribute his penny for such a purpose. The rich man should be equally willing to contribute his pound.

It may be that the income tax is larger than it should be. We are sure that the duties on many of the necessaries of life are. But we would not like to look a poor man in the face while we were advocating a reduction of the five per cent. tax on incomes and at the same time opposing a reduction of the forty per cent. reduction on tea. If the condition of the national treasury is such that some of the existing burdens can be safely removed or essentially lightened, we hope Congress may have the humanity and decency to begin with those that fall most heavily upon those least able to bear them.

It is objected to the income tax that its collection involves a scrutiny offensively "inquisitorial." We admit that it is sometimes unpleasant for a man to proclaim to the world just how much he has to live upon. Most men would rather keep that a secret. But is it not also unpleasant to be obliged to proclaim to the world how many dollars' worth of stocks and bonds and mortgages and gold watches and silver spoons one owns? The system by which taxes upon those values and upon all personal property is levied, must, necessarily be "inquisitorial." But it is no more "inquisitorial" in the one case than in the other; and no more "inquisitorial" in either case than any fair and square honest man is willing to submit to.

"It tempts to perjury and deceit." Certainly it does in some cases; but is it not a fact that those whom it thus tempts most severely to cheat the Government, are those who, by their avarice, cupidity and dishonest instincts, are every day sorely tempted to cheat their neighbors. But who would advocate the abolition of all trade, because some who traffic are knaves?

Trade does not "tempt" a really honest man—certainly not "above what he can bear." Nor is a really honest man "tempted to perjury and deceit" by the income tax. Some are, no doubt, not only "tempted" but succumb to the temptation, to avoid bearing their just proportion of all public burdens. But they are not honest men.

If the "inquisitorial" character of the tax system, so far as it relates to income and personal values, is "offensive" to any, it is most objectionably so to those who would defraud the Government by secreting their wealth, if they could do so with impunity. The system is essential, not for those who would do right any way, but for those who only do right on compulsion. And we fancy it is chiefly this latter class, and not the open-and-above board part of the community, who find most fault with the "inquisitorial" character of any tax law. And it is just this class of men for whom neither the law nor the honest portion of community have or should have any particular sympathy.

Our own impression has long been that our tax laws are not "inquisitorial" enough. There is a great deal too much taxable wealth hidden—altogether too much turning and twisting and shuffling to avoid taxation in any form—to render any curtailment of the "inquisitorial" principle either safe or desirable.

While we have no particular objection to any righteous tax—righteously imposed for a righteous purpose—we confess to a particular liking for the income tax, and shall deeply regret if a Republican Congress shall be so unwise as to make that tax the first to be abrogated. If because of the inherent depravity of human nature, a reduction of the tax, like the reduction of the duty on whiskey, will induce men to pay it who now evade it, because its amount tempts them (as the whisky tax tempted the whisky ring) to "perjury and deceit," and if the tax, in the aggregate, by this compound operation, will be rather increased than diminished, we should not object to the reduction. Because if the reduction would operate in this manner, the tax would be more generally diffused; and the honest men who pay the tax any way, would be greatly relieved by the accession to the list of income tax-payers of those who would not think it worth while to perjure themselves to avoid the payment of a two per cent. tax, but who cannot resist the temptation to commit that crime when the tax is five per cent.

APPEARANCE.—Upon the subject of dress and appearance the New York Times thus remarks: "A coat that has the mark of use upon it, is a recommendation to people of sense, and a hat with too much nap and too high a luster is a derogatory circumstance. The best coats in Broadway are on the backs of penniless fops, broken down merchants, clerks with pitiful salaries, and men that do not pay up. The heaviest gold chains dangle from the fobs of gamblers and gentlemen of limited means; costly ornaments on ladies indicate to the eyes that are well opened, the fact of a silly lover or husband cramped for funds. And when a pretty woman goes by in plain and neat apparel, it is the presumption that she has fair expectations, and a husband that can show a balance in his favor. For women are like books—too much gilding makes men suspicious that the binding is the most important part."

The subjoined correspondence sufficiently explains itself:

PORTLAND, Oregon, Nov. 15, 1869.

MESSRS EVERSON & HAINES, General Agents New England Mutual Life Insurance Company, Boston:

Gentlemen:—On my own behalf and in the name of my orphan children, I beg to thank you, and through you the New England Mutual Life Insurance Company of Boston, for its munificence in paying me my terminated policy on the life of my husband. On the 21st January, 1869, misfortune compelled me to forego the payment of the last premium—which non-payment in any other company would have lost me my policy—but I am now overjoyed with the receipt of the amount of the policy (less the amount of the unpaid premium only), thanks to the equity of the Massachusetts Lapse Laws, that must bless many widows and their children. I recommend the New England Mutual to all who would provide against possible misfortune. I sincerely thank you again, gentlemen, for the payment, and also for your generous and gentlemanly assistance in the matter.

Respectfully, BETSEY MILLER.

PORTLAND, OREGON, Nov. 15, 1869.

MESSRS EVERSON & HAINES, General Agents of the New England Mutual Life Insurance Company of Boston.

Gentlemen:—Having taken a lively interest in the affairs of the large and destitute family, left by an old resident of this city, who died Aug. 2, 1869, and who was insured in the New England Mutual Life Insurance Company, we take pleasure in making the following statement for the information of the public:

A. E C. Miller was insured by ordinary Life Policy No. 13,054, bearing date January 21, 1863. He paid annual payments to January 21, 1868, inclusive. Since then nothing has been paid. He died August 2, 1869, over eighteen months after last payment of premium, yet your company working under the Equitable Lapse Laws of Massachusetts, pays the widow and orphans the whole policy, deducting only the premium due; while in all other companies doing business here, about which we know anything, the policy would long since have been forfeited.

By the New England Mutual, the widow has been paid $4,650 50. This we consider munificent, more especially when we take into consideration that the family would not have received a cent from any other company doing business on this coast. This in our estimation is enough to recommend this company above all others. This is Equity, this is Mutuality. We, therefore, commend this company to the public, as the only company that has no forfeitures.

We herewith inclose you the acknowledgments of the widow.

Respectfully yours, etc.

Please accept our thanks for the voluntary justice you have done the company we represent.

On Sea and Land the Great Restorative.
As a remedy for the sea-sickness which besets the voyager on his way to and from California, and for the disorders which assail the unacclimated emigrant in the unhealthy districts of the interior, HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS will be found equally efficacious. On no part of the continent has the value of this pure vegetable elixir, as a specific for epidemic diseases, been so clearly demonstrated, as in the new States and Territories lying contiguous to the Pacific ocean. As a means of preventing the distressing and dangerous attacks of fever, and the dysenteric and diarrheal complaints which are engendered by poison in the air, or by the use of water containing a mineral or vegetable taint inimical to health, it is confessedly superior to any other tonic and alterative in the world. It acts as a preventive agent by strengthening and exhilarating the whole physical organization, and producing a regular habit of body. All that the human system requires, to enable it to resist the deleterious effects of Malaria, is increased vigor and vital activity, and these are the inevitable results of a course of this celebrated tonic and corrective. It promotes appetite, facilitates digestion, controls the liver, regulates and braces the nerves, superinduces sound and wholesome sleep, invigorates without exciting the pulse, and imparts buoyancy to the animal spirits. The body and mind toned and cheered by its gentle operation, are in a condition to repel all exterior influences which tend to produce disease. Flux, dysentery, bilious remittents, chills and fever, rheumatism, &c., are almost always caused by atmospheric poison acting upon an unfortified system. Brace up the organism and cheer the spirits, with this wholesome medicated stimulant, and then neither the malaria generated by the filth of crowded cities, nor the exhalation of new soils, nor the vapid water of a springless region, will be likely to produce any serious consequences.

The Red River Commander

A SKETCH OF HIS CAREER

[Correspondence of the St Paul Dispatch]

I think that some wrong information has been given in regard to Louis Rielle who is now the commander-in-chief of the revolutionary forces in the Red River On Monday evening the Dispatch expresses itself about him as follows

"Louis Rielle, was a year or two ago a resident of St Paul, and a clerk in Langevin's grocery store He is a tall, well formed man but of no particular mental ability and his friends and acquaintances here will be rather astonished to learn the position he holds in the new war."

As I am acquainted with the gentleman, I am not at all surprised for my part to learn the position he holds in that movement for I consider him, and he is considered by all those who can appreciate him, not only as a tall, well formed man, but as a man of strong mental ability, thoroughly educated for his age, and possessing high aspirations though not exceeding the limits of his talents

Louis Rielle, is a young man about 24 years of age, was born at Red River, from poor, but respectable parents, and is of pure French origin. Thirteen years ago, his education was placed under the care of a Bishop, who sent him to the best classical college in Montreal The same college where Gen. Dix, of the United States, and several other great scholars have been educated.

He remained there nine years as a student and displayed such talent, and obtained such success in literature, that his professors and protectors wanted him to enter their Community. But, Louis Rielle, as a well formed man didn't want to take a robe without a woman, and though willing to remain for ever the religious subject of their Spiritual order, decided against their will to study the law and enter the French literary career.

After his decision, no more protection was offered him—and with the strength of his character following the path prepared for him by Providence resisted the Empire of their despotism, and preferred misery to their despotism. From that time he had to struggle for his living; he was left without any resources whatever, and on account of the interruption of his studies, was unable to live in Canada He came to Minnesota about three years ago, and remained alternately in St. Paul and St. Anthony during two years. He got situations as clerk in grocery stores, but of course was disappointed. Commerce was not his favorite branch, but yet he would have preferred it, if he could have got any hope to raise in a short time money enough to allow him to study as a lawyer His disappointment caused his return to Red River, where he thought he could sooner get the means of following the course of his desires. Such was the fatality of his circumstances

I don't know, if Mr. L. Rielle possesses any military or political genius. Should he fail or not in this career I would consider him too able for being at the head of a body of half-breeds, who are hardly semi civilized.

As a writer and speaker in the French language, he cannot easily be surpassed by any man of his age. To that point of view his mind is always reasoning and reasonable, and L. Rielle would undoubtedly become a first class lawyer. That, he could not do without having a strong mental ability.

The literary career in all nations has produced the greatest men, for those who followed it have enlightened the world, and have been the rulers of its destinies.

An Eastern View of California.

The following extract from a private correspondence, written without the slightest idea of publication, is altogether too good to be lost. It expresses the California situation, and describes California characteristics to the letter, and with not much exaggeration;

In our Eastern States, and throughout the civilized world, money and temporal possessions are great equalizers of a community. In various countries rank of nobility, military, literary and civil attainments are paramount distinctions which entitle the lucky possessors to honorable claims of deference and respect, and at the least social standing in any country where their claims are recognized. But in California, though a man possessed millions in wealth, had the wisdom of Solomon, was the hero of a thousand battles, and enjoyed the greatest literary reputation in the world; if he were not the honored friend of W. C. Ralston of the Bank of California; had not been "invited to dine" with him, and even then all had not lived long enough in the country to be called a "forty-niner," he would be regarded with disgust, aversion and [illegible]. Among the most conspicuous of [illegible] native features, is the arrogance, conceit, [illegible] notions of California people in relation to the superior excellence of their [illegible], and their proneness to believe that whatever they have is a little better than the same thing in any other part of the world. There cannot be the slightest doubt that all true and thoroughly imbued San Franciscans, fervently and sacredly believe, that the Bank of California is the most [illegible] institution that was ever incorporated, and that W. C. Ralston, its cashier, is the greatest financier of the age; that Montgomery street is the Broadway of the world; that the new California Theatre is the most gorgeously magnificent temple of amusement ever attempted, and that the Stock Company which they employ is par excellent, and that John McCullough is the greatest star that ever lived. That the Lick House has the finest dining room in the world; that James Lick, who is worth about seven millions, is wealthier than Vanderbilt and the Rothschilds combined; that the Cliff House is a greater resort than Saratoga. In short, that their horses are faster, their women are handsomer, their men are braver, and that everything from the Merchants' Exchange down to their rob-you-of-five-cents-a-[illegible] of boot-blacking, is [illegible] superior and in advance of the same thing anywhere outside of Heaven, that is not inside of San Francisco. As I said before, however, I love California with all her eccentricities and peculiarities I love her glorious climate, her luscious fruits, genial wines and her excellent cocktails. [illegible] things I love, many things I admire, a very few that I am "stuck" after, and none that I reverence. I have seen all of her, from her big trees, and inexhaustible mines, down to her national dish of "swimps." I have been to Calistoga, that's a nice place, in the advertisements, but a h—l of a place in reality; I have been to San Quentin where they send such people as are in doubt as to ownership of personal effects, and who are popularly believed to be convicts, you will understand my opinion of this place when I express myself more fully.

A Horror at Sea Suicide of Over 200 Coolies

HAVANA, November 11.—A "drama of the sea," that, in scenes of horror and incidents of death, stands forth with unfortunate prominence, has just been brought under public notice here.

Since Sunday, two vessels carrying coolies, have arrived—the Salvadorian ship Macao, with 400 Colonos Asiaticos, and the French bark Tamaris, with only sixty-eight It is upon the latter vessel that the "drama" occurred.

Having left Macao for Havana on February 6, with three hundred indentured Chinese, a Chinese doctor, a Portuguese interpreter, a captain, and a crew of eighteen men, the vessel sailed to within 270 miles of Java without anything notable happening on board, but, then and there, the indentured Chinese revolted and killed the captain (Rambite) and the interpreter.

The crew, powerless to resist the infuriated Celestials took to the boats, which they launched, and then abandoned the vessel.

They were fortunate enough to reach Java in a few days, and report the affair to the Dutch authorities A Dutch war vessel was at once sent in pursuit of the Tamaris, but had to cruise for her thirty days before meeting her After a slight resistance, the mutinied Chinese in possession of her surrendered, and the Chinese captain and other Chinese officials installed on board after the crew had abandoned her, as well as the majority of the other Chinese on board, were loaded with chains and kept in the hold

The Tamaris was then conveyed to Padang, where a new captain (Casolis) and the old crew of eighteen men were put on board, and then she started once more for Havana

Of the 300 coolies taken on at Macao, 55 perished in the mutiny and resisting the Dutch war vessel, so that the second start was made with only 245 coolies on board When these coolies ascertained that they were, after all, to be taken to Cuba, they became desperate and at every opportunity jumped overboard Many, deprived of the opportunity to drown themselves, committed suicide by actual starvation

The felo de se-ing continued the whole voyage, so that when the Tamaris reached Havana she had, as stated, only sixty eight Chinese on board no less than 232 having perished during the eventful voyage of nine months duration.

It is useless to add that the trip has been a losing one to those who chartered the vessel and indentured the coolies —Correspondence of the N. Y. World

The Darien Canal

[Correspondence New York Herald]

PANAMA, Nov 1, 1869

The people of this State have managed to get up a considerable amount of enthusiasm over the canal question. Their representatives to the national Congress are fully pledged to vote in favor of the confirmation of any reasonable treaty which may be made by the Executive So anxious are they that the matter shall be carried through and so convinced of the great benefits which may accrue to them and to the commerce of the world by the opening of a canal through their State, that they would be perfectly willing, were the coming Congress to take unfavorable action upon it, to sever themselves from the Columbian Confederation altogether and claim protection from the governments of the United States and Great Britain. Were either of these powerful governments to show any willingness to guarantee the independence of this State there would not be the slightest difficulty in effecting it, so far as the disposition of the people is concerned Not unfrequently has it been the case that the interior States have combined their forces in Congress against and have secured the defeat of measures calculated to benefit the Isthmus—the late canal treaty for example. People begin to feel that the bonds which unite them to a confederation whose capital is many leagues from the coast, and more difficult of access than Washington or London, and whose lawmakers are partial and unjust, and who allow miserable political questions to influence them against one of the most important enterprises of the day, are rather irksome and galling than otherwise, and they would welcome any power which would free them from these obligations, and make the Isthmus, in fact as well as in name, the highway of nations. This will only be when we have a canal, and people look to this as one of the means of restoring commercial prosperity to something like what it was in the palmy days of California emigration.

INSTRUCTIONS TO BIDDERS AND POSTMASTERS,

Containing also conditions to be incorporated in the contracts to the extent the Department may deem proper

1 Seven minutes are allowed to each intermediate office, when not otherwise specified, for assorting the mails; but on railroad and steamboat routes there is to be no more delay than is sufficient for an exchange of the mail pouches.

2. On railroad and steamboat lines and other routes where the mode of conveyance admits of it, the special agents of the Post Office Department, also post office blanks mail bags locks and keys, are to be conveyed without extra charge.

3 On railroad and steamboat lines the route agents of the Department, also the British and Canada mails, when offered, and the agents accompanying them, are conveyed without charge; and for the use of the United States agents a commodious car, or part of a car, properly lighted, warmed, and furnished and adapted to the convenient separation and due security of the mails, is to be provided by the contractor, under the direction of the Department

Railroad and steamboat companies are required to take the mail from, and deliver it into, the postoffices at the beginning and end of their routes and to and from all offices not more than eighty rods from a station or landing Proposals may be submitted by the companies for the performance of all other side supplies—that is, for offices over eighty rods from a station or landing

There will be "way bills" prepared by postmasters, or other agents of the Department, to accompany the mails conveyed on railroads and steamers, specifying the number and destination of the several bags. On other principal routes, likewise, receipts will be required and way bills forwarded, the latter to be examined by the several postmasters, to insure regularity in the delivery of mails.

4 No pay will be made for trips not performed; and for each of such omissions, not satisfactorily explained, three times the pay of the trip will be deducted. For arrivals so far behind time as to break connection with depending mails, and not sufficiently excused, one fourth of the compensation for the trip is subject to forfeiture. For repeated delinquencies of the kind herein specified enlarged penalties, proportioned to the nature thereof, and the importance of the mail, may be made.

5 For leaving behind or throwing off the mails, or any portion of them, for the admission of passengers, or for being concerned in setting up or running an express conveying intelligence in advance of the mail, a quarter's pay may be deducted.

6 Fines will be imposed, unless the delinquency be promptly and satisfactorily explained by certificates of postmasters or the affidavits of other credible persons, for failing to arrive in contract time; for neglecting to take the mail from, or deliver it into a postoffice; for suffering it to be wet, injured destroyed, robbed or lost; and for refusing, after demand, to convey the mail as frequently as the contractor runs, or is concerned in running, a coach, car, or steamboat on a route.

7 The Postmaster General may annul the contract for repeated failures to run agreeably to contract; for violating the post office laws or disobeying the instructions of the Department, for refusing to discharge a carrier when required by the Department to do so for running an express as aforesaid, or for transporting persons or packages conveying mailable matter out of the mail

8 The Postmaster General may order an increase of service on a route by allowing therefor a pro rata increase on the contract pay He may change schedules of departures and arrivals in all cases, and particularly to make them conform to connections with railroads, without increase of pay, provided the running time be not abridged The Postmaster General may also discontinue or curtail the service, in whole or in part, in order to place on the route superior service or whenever the public interests, in his judgment, shall require such discontinuance or curtailment for any other cause he allowing as full indemnity to contractor one month's extra pay on the amount of service dispensed with, and a pro rata compensation for the amount of service retained and continued.

9 Payments will be made by collections from, or drafts on postmasters or otherwise, after the expiration of each quarter—say in November February, May and August.

10 The distances are given according to the best information but no increased pay will be allowed should they be greater than advertised if the points to be supplied are correctly stated Bidders must inform themselves on this point, and also in reference to the weight of the mail, the condition of the roads, hills streams &c and all toll bridges ferries, or obstructions of any kind by which expense may be incurred No claim for additional pay, based on such ground, can be considered, nor for alleged mistakes or misapprehension as to the degree of service nor for bridges destroyed, ferries discontinued or other obstructions increasing distance or expense, occurring during the contract term Offices established after this advertisement is issued and also during the contract term are to be visited without extra pay if the distance be not increased

11 Bidders are cautioned to mail their proposals in time to reach the Department by the day and hour named (3 p m March 1 1870) for bids received after that time will not be considered in competition with a bid of reasonable amount received in time Neither can bids be considered which are without the guarantee required by law and a certificate of the sufficiency of such guarantee

12 Bidders should first propose for service strictly according to the advertisement, and then if they desire separately for different service; and if the regular bid be the lowest offered for the advertised service, the other propositions may be considered

13 There should be but one route bid for in a proposal Consolidated or combination bids ("proposing one sum for two or more routes") are forbidden by law and cannot be considered

14 The route the service the yearly pay the name and residence of the bidder (that is his usual post office address) and the name of each member of a firm where a company offers, should be distinctly stated

15 Bidders are requested to use, as far as practicable the printed proposals furnished by the Department to write out in full the sum of their bids and to retain copies of them

Altered bids should not be submitted nor should bids once submitted be withdrawn No withdrawal of a bidder or guarantor will be allowed unless the withdrawal is dated and received before the last day for receiving proposals

Each bid must be guaranteed by two responsible persons The bid and guarantee should be signed plainly with the full name of each person

The Department reserves the right to reject any bid which may be deemed extravagant and also to disregard the bids of failing contractors and bidders (Act of July 2, 1836, section 24)

16 The bid should be sealed superscribed, "Mail Proposals, State of Oregon, ," addressed "Second Assistant Post[illegible] Office and sent by mail not by or [illegible] postmasters will not [illegible] proposals [illegible] kind in their quarterly returns.

17 The contracts are to be executed and returned to the Department by or before the 1st day of [illegible] but the service must be begun on that day [illegible] day next after it, whether [illegible] not

Transfers of contracts or of interest in [illegible] forbidden by law and consequently [illegible] Bidders will therefore take notice that [illegible] expected to perform the service accepted to [illegible] the whole term of the contract

18 Postmasters at offices on or near [illegible] not more than eighty rods from a station [illegible] after the 1st of March next report their [illegible] from the nearest station to enable the [illegible] to [illegible] supply from the [illegible]

19 Section eighteen of an act of Congress of March 3 1845 provides that contracts for the transportation of the mail shall be let, "in every case, to the lowest bidder tendering sufficient guarantees for faithful performance, without other reference to the mode of such transportation than may be necessary to provide for the due celerity certainty and security of such transportation." Under this law bids that propose to carry the mails with celerity certainty and security [illegible] been decided to be the only legal bids, [illegible] providing for the entire mail, [illegible] may be the mode of conveyance [illegible] all celerity certainty and security, [illegible] ference over all others, and no others are [illegible]

20 A modification of a bid in any of its essential terms is tantamount to a new bid, and [illegible] so as to interfere with regular competition [illegible] but with guarantee and certificate, [illegible] formally a previous bid
